ENTERTAINMENTS.

Grand Opera House.

The attraction at the Grand opera house the first three nights this week will be Joseph Callahan and his fine company presenting Sir Henry Irving's version of "Faust." Matinee Tuesday and Wednesday. The Grand opera house is well ventilated, and everything is done to keep the place cool and comfortable for patrons. An exchange says: Sir Henry Irving's version of "Faust" was given at the opera house last evening for the first time in America without the English player. The occasion was also the debut of Joseph Callahan, and the reception accorded both the play and the star augurs well for the success of the venture. Mr. Callahan has played the role of Mephisto on many occasions heretofore while under study for Lewis Morrison, and the impersonation of Mr. Morrison's Mephisto was so cleverly done by him that few realized Mr. Morrison's absence from the stage. Mr. Callahan never appeared to greater advantage than he did last evening, for his own ideas as to the manner in which the role should be played were wedded to the characteristics which have won fame and fortune for the other Mephistos.

The Broken scene particularly excels in thrilling, weird, and fantastic spectacles. No artist has yet called to his aid so many effective and attractive features of the scene painter's and electrician's work. In this scene, which portrays Faust's visit to hell in company with Mephisto, the appearance of the arch-conspirator causes the earth to crumble from his feet, the rocks to move, the trees, embodying human souls, to sway the rock, fierce birds of the air, burning with fire, howl and screech, salamanders and dragons roar and fly, some carrying the souls of the damned down to their abiding place. The lost souls wail and repeat their woes, all forming a picture which rivals Dante's marvelous description.

Faust's Wonderful Theater.

Mr. Poll is not deterred by hot waves from securing the best attractions obtainable, and just now rare novelties and high class attractions are always available. This week he presents the great French novelty producers, Vena and Van, as the leading attraction. They give a unique gymnastic exhibition, entirely new in America, and full of startling surprises and sensational climaxes. Mr. Vernon and Miss Hawthorne present a rare refined sketch entitled "Aristocracy," and those who may have seen them with Hoyt and Thomas' Fanny Rice's, Charles Frohman's and the "Later On" companies will know what they can do. Swift and Chase, the Kinners, Miss Ida Howell, Hyams and Collier, the Misses Rice and Halvers, Bud Jordan and George C. Davis, are others who will make this week's specially entertaining for all who visit the Wonderland.

HIS TENTH ANNIVERSARY.

DR. TWITCHELL COMPLETES THE TENTH YEAR OF HIS PASTORATE.

An Anniversary Sermon Yesterday Morning—Addresses by President Dwight, Dr. Smyth, Dr. Harwood and Dr. McLane Last Evening.

Rev. Dr. J. E. Twitchell preached an anniversary sermon at the Dwight Place church yesterday morning in observance of the completion of the tenth year of his pastorate of the church. In the evening President Timothy Dwight of Yale university made a short address on "The Relations Between the Church and Schools of Learning." He held that the relations between the church and college, considered as two institutions, were naturally very close, the one being of great aid and assistance to the other.

Dr. Newman Smyth, pastor of Center church, then spoke on the subject "The Church an Inspiring Force." He said that no other enthusiasm for humanity can take the place of the enthusiasm for Christ. He also alluded to the fact that he was nearing the end of the thirteenth year of his pastorate.

Rev. Dr. Edwin Harwood, rector emeritus of Trinity church, then made a very interesting address in which he spoke of the church as a brotherhood. He brought out the thought that it gave great strength to the church for believers in Christ to be banded together for the furtherance and advancement of Christ's kingdom in this world. He said that there was no greater brotherhood in the world than that which has Christ for its inspirer and leader. It is for the good of humanity that the church continually in laboring, and so those united in the brotherhood of Christ become a great moral force for the spiritual good of mankind.

Rev. Dr. William W. McLane, pastor of the College street Congregational church, then made a few very interesting remarks in which he alluded in a most congratulatory manner to Dr. Twitchell's pastorate in this city. The church was very prettily decorated with palms, cut flowers, potted plants and hydrangeas.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a social reunion and anniversary reception in the church and chapel; also brief addresses and music. All members of the church and other adult members of the congregation are cordially invited to be present and contribute to the enjoyment of the occasion.
